Additional Services

Selected Golf Clubs

BOTANIQ Máriavölgyi Golf Club

East of Hungary's capital, Budapest, the BOTANIQ Máriavölgyi Golf Club is set in an idyllic valley bordering the historic Etyek wine region. The 18-hole championship course was designed by renowned Austrian golf architect Hans G. Erhardt and opened in 1996. Eight holes are enhanced by strategically placed water hazards, adding to the course's challenge. In particular, the doglegs on holes 9 and 11, as well as the demanding pin positions on the undulating greens, require tactical play and precision. Thanks to the well-balanced combination of mature vegetation, water hazards and bunkers, this meticulously maintained course offers golfers of all skill levels a varied and high-quality playing experience.

Penati Golf Resort

Located in the picturesque Záhorie region near the town of Senica, Penati Golf Resort ranks among Central Europe's most outstanding golf destinations. The resort features two distinct 18-hole courses: the Legend Course, opened in 2012, and the Heritage Course, inaugurated in 2013. Spanning 95 hectares, the expansive Legend Course was designed by Nicklaus Design. Undulating fairways, strategically placed bunkers and varied tee positions create a wide range of challenges and demand thoughtful course management. Among the course's unmistakable signature holes are the legendary 15th hole—measuring an impressive 716 metres and recognised as the longest hole in Europe—as well as the spectacular finishing hole, where a narrow green played towards an island-style target provides a thrilling and visually stunning finale.

Fontana Golf Club

An unforgettable golfing experience awaits at the Fontana Championship Golf Course, located around 30 kilometres south of Vienna. Set amid expansive natural surroundings, the course offers impressive views of Mount Schneeberg and the foothills of the Vienna Woods. The routing and course design were created by renowned Canadian golf architect Doug Carrick, whose masterful layout delivers a challenging yet fair course of international top-class standard. Opened in 1996, the 18-hole championship course (par 72) ranks among Europe's leading golf courses. Strategically placed bunkers and water hazards, complemented by a selection of more relaxed holes, ensure variety and sporting challenges at the highest level.

Golf Resort Quellness – Beckenbauer Golf Course

Picturesquely set in the tranquil Bavarian countryside, the Quellness Golf Resort is home to the distinguished Beckenbauer Golf Course, an 18-hole championship layout designed by renowned golfer Bernhard Langer. Celebrated by some of the world's leading players for both its technical demands and immaculate conditioning, the course offers a compelling blend of challenge and playability. While largely flat, the varied terrain features numerous water hazards—including streams, floodplains and lakes—that demand precision and strategic shot-making. In particular, holes 9 and 18 offer spectacular approaches to island greens, providing memorable highlights for players of all levels.

Regensburg Golf and Country Club (optional)

The Golf and Country Club Regensburg is set amid the lush foothills of the Bavarian Forest, offering spectacular views over the Danube Valley. With a tree population some of which is over 300 years old, the course evokes the atmosphere of classic English parkland golf courses. The historic clubhouse was built in 1885 as a hunting lodge for the Princes of Thurn and Taxis. Within this impressive landscape, renowned golf architect Donald Harradine originally designed nine holes in 1968, which were expanded to 18 holes in 1981. Between 1999 and 2002, the course was modernised by Thomas Himmel to create today's contemporary 18-hole layout. The gently undulating course, featuring strategically placed water hazards, offers a challenging yet rewarding round of golf, combined with an atmosphere of tranquillity and relaxation.
